Online Registration Instructions for the Thursday, 9AM Section of Psy 300
(Step #8 contains the all important course key)

To register as a new user of CengageNow:

1. Go to  http://login.cengagebrain.com
2. Click on Create an Account.
3. Enter the access code that came with your book or that you purchased online, and click Continue.
   Note: The CengageNOW Access Code came with your textbook (if purchased new), and this code begins with P. (Do not confuse this code with your Course Key, provided below, which begins with an E.) If a code did not come with your textbook, you can purchase a code separate or with an e-book at www.cengagebrain.com
4. Enter your personal account information, select I agree for the license agreement, click on the correct time zone (Pacific Time), confirm that you are over 13 years of age, and click Continue. In the future, you will sign in with the e-mail address and password that you provide in this step.
5. Indicate that your school is a U.S. institution, and that it is a 2-year institution, and then use the Search tools to list it.
6. Click the button for American River College from the search results list and click Register.
7. This should get you into a page entitled “My Home Dashboard” with your e-mail address and “American River College” showing on the top right. You should also see a picture or icon representing the book we are using this semester. Make sure the title is CengageNOW with eBook for Pastorino/Doyle-Portillo’s What is Psychology? 3rd Edition. Click Open. If the correct book is not showing, something is wrong with the access code you entered above in step 2. Make sure you are using the correct one.

↓VERY IMPORTANT STEP BELOW↓

8. Register for your specific section (Thursday, 9AM) of the course by entering the following course key: E-38EANGV3MSEZT and click Submit. If you don’t complete this step, you will not show up on the online roster for your specific class, and even though you may do the assignments, there will be no record of them having been completed.
9. Once inside the class, explore the tabs to see how the program works. Mostly, you will be accessing your assignments through the “Assignments/Tests” tab, although all your assignments may not be visible at the very beginning of the semester.
